M.L. ART. 111. The names of State Delegates and of their Alternates with valid credentials shall be reported by the Credential Committee to the State President, who shall recognize in each one of them the right to participate in the Convention. The Committee must then refer to the Assembly thus composed, case by case, the names of those State Delegates or Alternates whose credentials have been questioned or contested, giving the reasons presented to them for and against the contested credentials and their recommendation for the decision which the State Delegates should consider in every case. The persons contesting the credentials shall then have the right to speak first to the members of the Grand Lodge thus composed, giving the reason for objecting to the credentials; then, the person whose credentials is being contested shall have the right to give the reasons for sustaining the validity of his/her credentials. Having completed its investigation, the committee will recommend to the assembly to accept or reject the application. A majority vote in favor of the applicant shall be sufficient for acceptance. In all cases in which the Investigating Committee reports rejection of an application, any member may move to have the members pass upon the merits of the application.

M.L. ART. 121. A person whose application is accepted shall be notified by the Recording Secretary of the time and place of the meeting in which he/she is to be present for initiation, and if he/she is absent and does not present himself/herself for two successive meetings, the application shall no longer be effective. If he/she should apply for membership again, he/she shall start from the beginning, according to the requirements for admission of new members.

M.L. ART. 122. Once the membership application is completed by the candidate, and approved by the Filial Lodge, the member is immediately initiated and enrolled in the Filial Lodge, and the Grand Lodge copy of said application is forwarded to the Grand Lodge, (along with the $10.00 application fee).

Before a person is initiated as a member, he/she must pay an admission fee that shall be established by the Local Lodge, provided however, that such fee shall be a minimum of $10.00 to a maximum to be established by the Lodge. CHAPTER X

SEPARATION AND REINSTATEMENT

DEFAULTS, CANCELLATIONS, RESIGNATIONS

M.L. ART. 131. A member is in arrears when he/she has not paid the current dues, fines, and assessments to the local lodge and a member is in default when in arrears with the payment of dues, fines, and assessments to the local lodge for a period of three consecutive months. A member is in default who by the first day of the fourth month, does not remove the cause of such default and shall be stricken from the rolls of membership.

M.L. ART. 132. A default or failure to make proper payment deprives the member of the following rights: the disability benefits payable because of illness or disability for employment; the benefits of medical services of a Lodge; the right to speak at meetings, the right to vote at the meetings on any question or election; the right to become eligible for any office, but if the member holds an office in the State Council, his/her default does not affect his/her right to vote or speak, or that of eligibility to office unless the Financial Secretary of the Lodge notifies the State Council by first class letter, and the member fails to place himself/herself in good financial standing within a month from the date of notification.

M.L. ART. 133. Default produces ipso facto the loss of office by any member who occupies a position or office in the Council Commissions, or Committees, excepting members of the State Council, no one of whom loses his/her office because of being in default, unless the Financial Secretary of the Lodge to which he/she belongs advises him/her of his/her indebtedness and notifies the State Council by first class letter as well and the State Officer fails to make the necessary payments within a month from the date of notification.

M.L. ART. 134. When a member becomes defaulted, the Financial Secretary must immediately send him/her a notice of his/her indebtedness and he/she must read his/her name to the Lodge at the meeting following the month in which he/she became in default, provided, however, that no notice of cancellation shall be sent to such member until such time as the Lodge Trustees call upon the defaulted member and urge him/her to retain membership and have filed a written report therefore with the Financial Secretary.

M.L. ART. 135. The member in order to place himself/herself in good financial standing must pay the Financial Secretary of his/her Lodge the amount of his/her indebtedness within thirty days after he/she becomes in arrears.

M.L. ART. 136. The member who places himself/herself in good financial standing reacquires ipso facto his/her right to the medical services, the right to speak, to vote and the right of eligibility to office; and if, at the time of payment, when he/she removes his/her indebtedness, he/she is in good health, he/she reacquires within thirty days, the right to disability benefits.

M.L. ART. 137. A member who is in default, and who is disabled for work at the time, who later places himself/herself in good financial standing, does not reacquire his/her right to disability benefit payments for the entire duration of his/her present illness or disability, and in every case, he/she does not reacquire until thirty days after payment of all his/her dues and taxes which removes his/her default, his/her right to disability benefits.

M.L. ART. 138. A member who has lost his/her office as State Delegate because he/she is in default reacquires his/her office when he/she places himself/herself in good financial standing.

M.L. ART. 139. The Financial Secretary must notify each member of his/her default by means of a first class letter ten (10) days before the expiration of the time prescribed to place himself/herself in good financial standing, advising him/her that upon the expiration of the period of grace, he/she shall be cancelled and deleted from the rolls of the Lodge.

M.L. ART. 140. The failure by a member to receive the notice of imminent cancellation sent to him by first class mail does not interrupt the procedure of cancellation provided that the notice was sent to his/her last known address.

M.L. ART. 141. The name of the member to whom the notice of cancellation was sent, who fails to make the proper payments within the period of grace, shall be read to the Lodge by the Financial Secretary at the meeting following the expiration of the thirty days and at the same meeting his/her name must be deleted and cancelled from the rolls of the Lodge. If the cancellation is not effectuated because of negligence or for any other reason, the member shall be considered cancelled, regardless.

M.L. ART. 142. Cancellation carries with it the loss of any and all rights in the Order.

M.L. ART. 143. The member who intends to terminate his/her affiliation with a Lodge may resign by presenting or sending a written declaration of his/her intention to the Recording Secretary, and his/her resignation must be accepted and cannot be rejected except in cases where the resigning member is under charges.

The name of the resigning member shall be cancelled from the rolls of the Lodge.

REINSTATEMENT

M.L. ART. 144. A person cancelled by a Lodge because he/she is in default, or because of resignation, provided he/she is morally worthy, must be readmitted to the same Lodge without the necessity of a vote on the same, provided further that he/she applies to the Lodge within ninety days from his/her cancellation, accompanying his/her application with a certificate of good health given to him/her by the doctor of the Lodge, together with the amount of dues or taxes owed by him/her at the time of his/her cancellation. He/she shall immediately reacquire, upon his/her Re-admission, his/her seniority benefits, and the right of eligibility to administrative or representative office, both of which are reacquired ninety days after re-admission.

M.L. ART. 145. A person cancelled because of default or because of resignation, who fails to take advantage of the right to readmission, within ninety days from the date of his default or resignation, may be re-admitted to any lodge by accompanying his/her application with pre-payment of one year's dues. No admission fees, vote, or initiation is necessary, and said member will re-acquire all rights and privileges except seniority ninety days after re-admission.

CHAPTER XI

THE TRANSFER CARD

M.L. ART. 146. The transfer card is the document by which permission is granted to a member to transfer himself/herself from his/her Lodge to another Lodge.

M.L. ART. 147. The granting of the transfer card is within the power of the State Council for the transfer from one Lodge to another Lodge under the jurisdiction of the Grand Lodge of Massachusetts; and in the power of the National Council for a transfer from one Lodge within the jurisdiction of the Grand Lodge of Massachusetts to another Lodge in any jurisdiction.

M.L. ART. 148. The request for transfer must be filed on a form prescribed by the State Council and in every case, should be presented or sent by the applicant to the Executive Council of his/her Lodge, which in turn, if approved, must forward it to the State Recording Secretary.

M.L. ART. 149. In order to file an application for a transfer card the member must be in good financial standing with regard to payment of dues and assessments to his/her Lodge up to and including the month in which the application is presented; and he/ she must not be under charges or under a definite sentence of an Arbitration Committee.

M.L. ART. 150. A member subject to the provisions of the preceding article has the right to receive a transfer card in the following cases:

- (a) When he/she changes his/her residence from one town or city to another town or city in the jurisdiction of the Grand Lodge.
- (b) When his/her Lodge is suspended or dissolved because of its financial indebtedness to the Grand Lodge, or because of disciplinary measures, provided that he/she was not involved in the causes which brought about the suspension or dissolution of the Lodge.

M.L. ART. 151. The State Council has the discretionary power to grant a transfer card even in cases where the applicant desires to transfer from one Lodge in a city or town to another Lodge in the same city or town, provided that the application is motivated by good and sufficient reasons, to be determined by the State Council.

M.L. ART. 152. The Transfer card must be submitted to a secret vote by the Lodge receiving the member, and a relative majority vote in favor or against shall constitute acceptance or rejection.

M.L. ART. 153. The preceding article does not apply to the case of a member transferring from a Lodge of another jurisdiction, in every case, the transfer card, accompanied by a medical certificate of good health, must be accepted without the necessity of any vote.

M.L. ART. 154. Within a week after the meeting in which a transfer card is accepted, the Recording Secretary of the receiving Lodge must inform the Recording Secretary of the Lodge from which the member transferred and the State Recording Secretary, of the acceptance of the member by the receiving Lodge.

M.L. ART. 155. The name of a member whose transfer card is accepted must be cancelled from the rolls of the Lodge from which the member transferred, and must be inscribed on the rolls of the receiving Lodge.

M.L. ART. 156. The transfer of rights and duties of the member who has obtained a transfer card, takes effect on the first of the month immediately succeeding the month the transfer card was accepted and all financial obligations and tributes up to that date are to be paid to the Lodge from which the member transferred, and the receiving Lodge shall forward any of said funds collected by it to the Lodge from which the member transferred.

M.L. ART. 157. If the transfer card is rejected by a vote of the receiving Lodge, or it ceases to be valid because it is not used within the prescribed sixty days from the date of its issuance, the member of the Filial Lodge must return it at the following meeting to his/her Lodge, and must pay at the same meeting his/her dues and taxes which have matured in the meanwhile, to place himself/herself in good financial standing and to reacquire all his/her rights.

M.L. ART. 158. A member who changes his/her residence with intention of establishing a permanent residence in a town or city away from the seat of his/her own Lodge, is obliged to request a transfer card if in the town or city where he/she has established his new residence or within a radius of fifteen miles from said city or town there exists another Lodge. If he/she fails to transfer within one year, he/she shall lose his/her right to disability benefit payments.

M.L. ART. 159. The preceding article does not apply to members of the State or National Council who are obliged to change their residence because of their office.

M.L. ART. 162. Elections, general, special or partial, must be held by secret ballot by means of a cumulative ballot which shall include all the positions to be voted upon, or by means of a single ballot for each office. Each Lodge shall adopt one or the other method.

M.L. ART. 163. A member of a Lodge may be nominated for any office, including State Delegate, if he/she has the necessary qualifications even though he/she is not present at the meeting at which nominations are made; provided, prior to nominations, he/she submits a statement to the Lodge, in writing and signed in his/her own hand, that he/she will accept the nomination and specify the office for which nomination will be accepted.

M.L. ART. 164. When the cumulative ballot method is adopted for use for the elections of a Lodge, the nomination of candidates shall be held at the preceding meeting, or at the meeting of the election, provided that the notice is given to all the members ten days before the election. The Recording Secretary shall see that a ballot is printed with the names of all candidates arranged according to precedence of office. For each office, the names of the candidates shall be placed as drawn by lot immediately following the meeting of nominations with all the candidates or their representatives present at the drawing.

M.L. ART. 165. The elections of the Grand Lodge shall always be held by a cumulative ballot, and the Electoral Committee shall be obliged to print a ballot with the names of all candidates arranged according to precedence of office, and for each office the names of the candidates shall be placed on the ballot determined by a drawing at the close of nominations of each office. The election, by means of printed ballots as above mentioned, shall take place on the second day of the Convention, at which time any and all other business before the Grand Lodge shall be suspended for the purpose of voting.

Elections of the Grand Lodge can be by voting machines, if they are available at the convention site. This option will be exercised by the State Council in effect prior to the election with notification to lodges 120 days prior to the elections at the State Convention.

M.L. ART. 166. The notice for a general election of a Filial Lodge must be sent to all members at least ten days before the meeting and must state that the election is to be held for all officers; however, notices of partial or special elections must specify the offices or the officers to be voted upon.

M.L. ART. 167. In addition to the other conditions prescribed for election to the various offices of the Lodge and the Grand Lodge by the General Laws, or by these By-Laws, the member, the officer or State Officer who is in default, with his/her own Lodge or with the Grand Lodge cannot be a candidate, nor can he/she be elected to any office.

M.L. ART. 168. In all elections the rule of absolute majority must be applied, but in the election of Trustees, Master/Mistress of Ceremonies, the Guard or State Delegates upon a deliberation taken by the members at the same meeting, the rule of relative majority may be adopted. The rule of absolute majority requires one-half plus one of the votes cast which are recognized as valid by the Electoral Committee. The rule of relative majority requires the highest number of votes even though it is less than one-half.

M.L. ART. 169. In all elections the following cases may occur:

- (a) A single candidate for one office.
- (b) Two candidates for one office.
- (c) Three or more candidates for one office.

In the first case, the single candidate shall be declared elected by acclamation. In the second case, the candidate who receives an absolute majority vote shall be declared elected, and in case of a tie vote, then the member who has seniority membership in the Order shall be declared elected. In the third case, if none of the candidates receives an absolute vote, then the two candidates who receive the highest and the second highest number of votes according to the graduating scale of votes shall be voted upon for the second time, and all other candidates shall be eliminated.

M.L. ART. 170. In the counting of votes, blank ballots and ballots nullified by the Electoral Committee shall not be counted. A ballot can be nullified because it has upon it some evident and apparent signs of recognition of the member, who cast the vote, or because the ballot does not clearly show the intent of the person casting the same, or because it bears the name of a person who is not a candidate.

M.L. ART. 171. The proclamation of those who are elected must be made by the President of the Electoral Committee.

M.L. ART. 172. The Electoral Committee shall be appointed by the presiding officer, and shall be composed of a President and four examiners. The nomination of candidates shall be directed by the presiding officer and not by the President of the Electoral Committee.

M.L. ART. 173. During an election, cases may arise where a member has been nominated but lacks the necessary qualifications for the office, or cases may arise where a member is about to vote without having a legal right to do so. In these cases, as soon as the irregularity is observed, it is necessary to immediately call this matter to the attention of the Lodge or the Grand Lodge which shall decide the merits of the questions. From the decision of the Lodge in the above cases, the member has the right of appeal to the State Executive Council, and from the decisions of the Grand Lodge in the above cases, the member has the right of appeal to the National Council.

M.L. ART. 174. Protests for any irregularities must be made to the Electoral Committee before the proclamation of the result of the election. These irregularities may be observed during the voting or in the counting of the votes. On every protest the Electoral Committee shall render its decision. From the decision of the Electoral Committee, the member has the right of appeal first to the Lodge, and then to the State Executive Council if the matter pertains to an election in a Filial Lodge, or, to the Grand Lodge and then to the National Council, if the matter pertains to an election of the Grand Lodge.

M.L. ART. 175. In questions concerning elections in Lodges, the decision of the State Council is final and cannot be appealed. In questions concerning the elections of the Grand Lodge, the decision of the National Council is final and cannot be appealed.

M.L. ART. 176. Elections in violation of the rules and regulations contained in these By-Laws or in the General Laws shall be null and void.

M.L. ART. 177. Reserved for future provisions.

M.L. ART. 178. Reserved for future provisions.

M.L. ART. 179. Reserved for future provisions.

CHAPTER XIV

ADMINISTRATIVE DEFECT

M.L. ART. 180. Any member of a Filial Lodge has the right of appeal to the State Council in the first instance, because of an administrative defect committed by a Filial Lodge, if he/she is damaged or suffers injuries to his/her rights by reason of said defect, within ten (10) days of its occurrence, and he/she may further appeal the decision of the State Council to the National Council within ten (10) days from the date that he be is notified of the decision of the State Council.

M.L. ART. 181. The appeal to the State Council must be accompanied by a deposit of Five Dollars for the expenses of the hearing. If the appeal is decided in favor of the appellant or in cases where the representatives of the Lodge at the hearing do not request payment for their traveling expenses, the Five Dollar deposit shall then be returned to the appellant in full. In cases where the finding is made against the appellant, then the expenses of travel for the representatives of the Lodge shall be deducted from the Five Dollars deposited, and the balance, if any, shall be forwarded to the appellant.

M.L. ART. 182. In the case of an "administrative defect" that is committed by the Grand Lodge, a member of a Filial Lodge, Lodges and entities, who are damaged thereby, may appeal to the National Council within ten (10) days. M.L. ART. 183. The State Council shall determine if an "administrative defect" has occurred after a hearing is held on the matter. All parties involved must be invited to be present, and after hearing the opinion and the conclusions of the State Orator, the State Council shall render its decision. The absence of either one or both of the parties involved does not invalidate the decision of the State Council.

M.L. ART. 184. If, as a result of the investigation of the State Orator, or as the result of the hearing, there is sufficient proof to show that the "administrative defect" was not the result of an error, but the result of fraud, misrepresentation, or deceit, the officer or the entity guilty of the commission of the fraud, misrepresentation, or deceit, shall be suspended by a decree of the State Council, and charges must be preferred against the guilty party or parties through the medium of the State Orator to the State Arbitration Committee.

APENDIX I

PARLIAMENTARY PROCEDURE

Our Order consists of thousands of men and women from every walk of life, young and old, who have associated themselves together to achieve purposes common to all. It is governed on the principle that when differences of opinion arise the will expressed by the majority is binding upon all the members. When the will of the majority on any question within the scope of the organization has been determined, and that will does not violate any superior law, and every member, either personally or by his/her elected representative has had a reasonable opportunity to vote on the question, then the will of the majority should be carried out by all the members, including those who did not vote with the majority. This is how every well-ordered society functions. Where there is a clash of opinion, therefore, the decision is made by the majority.

In order to discover the will of the majority on a given question without wasting time, without confusion, and with a minimum of friction, rules known as rules of parliamentary procedure have been evolved. These rules were not made by any one man or group of men. They have grown out of the experience of countless deliberative assemblies, great and small, extending from nearly a thousand years ago to this day.

It is not possible within the space of this section to cover more than the elements of these rules. It is felt that those who preside at our Lodge meetings, and members generally, ought to become more familiar with elementary rules of procedure and should follow them. It must be borne in mind that they should be applied at all times with tact and understanding. Let us start by stating some simple but important general rules:

1. One question, and only one, can be under consideration at any one time.
2. Only one person may have the floor at any one time.
3. No member may speak unless he is first recognized by the Chair.

There are these important exceptions to this rule:

- (a) When you rise on a point of privilege;
- (b) When you rise on a point of order, or on a point of parliamentary inquiry, or for information;
- (c) When appealing from the ruling of the Chair;
- (d) When you rise to object to the consideration of a question;
- (e) In making a motion for reconsideration.

4. No member while speaking may be interrupted by another member. To this rule there are these important exceptions:
 - (a) When you rise on a point of privilege;
 - (b) When you rise on a point of order, or on a point of parliamentary inquiry, or for information;
 - (c) When appealing from the ruling of the Chair;
 - (d) When you rise to object to the consideration of a question;
 - (e) In making a motion for reconsideration.
5. All speaking must be addressed to the Chair only. There is no exception to this rule.
6. All speaking must be confined to the matter under consideration.
7. Under our rules no member has a right to speak more than five minutes on one question. The only exception to this rule is when a member is reporting for a committee.
8. No member may speak a second time on the same question until all other members who desire to speak on the question have been heard.
9. Under our rules, a member reporting for a committee has the right to speak on a question growing out of his/her report.
10. It is never permitted to any speaker to indulge in personalities, or to use offensive or vulgar language. A speaker may not refer to another member by name.
11. When the presiding officer raps his/her gavel to restore order or to recall the speaker to the question, the speaker must stop talking until the presiding officer indicates that said speaker may proceed.

The physical arrangements at the meeting place are important aids to orderly and dignified procedure. They deserve more attention than is given them by many of our Lodges. The stations occupied by the officers ought to be symmetrically arranged, and should stand out somewhat from the seats occupied by the members. The hall and equipment should be clean and cheerful, and not dingy and depressing. Seats should be so arranged as to prevent members from sitting in the nooks and corners of the hall when more central space is available. Clean insignia are attractive and colorful, soiled ones repel the observer. The beautiful flags that nearly all our Lodges possess would be more useful assets if displayed regularly at the meetings. Finally, meetings are more successful and pleasant when members are made comfortable by providing adequate light, heat and ventilation in the hall.

The presiding officer is the leader of the members in meeting assembled.

1. He/She must be scrupulously fair and courteous to all members.
2. He/She is the arbiter of all questions of order and privilege raised by members.

3. He/She maintains order in the assembly and applies the rules impartially and tactfully.
4. He/She aids the shy or unlettered members in formulating the motions they may wish to submit to the assembly.
5. He/She stands when he/she states the motion or puts a motion to vote, or passes upon a question of order or privilege. No motion is properly before the meeting until it has been stated by the Chair.
6. He/She is attentive to the discussion.
7. He/She may not speak for or against any question unless he/she first turns the chair over to the next officer in line. Having taken part in the debate he/she does not resume the chair until the question has been voted on. But he/she may, without relinquishing the chair, give a factual explanation of the question for the guidance of the members.
8. He/she may not make motions while presiding.
9. Under our special rules he/she may vote at elections or in case of a tie vote.
10. After hearing the opinion of the Orator he/she decides all the questions of law. The decision is subject to an appeal to higher authority as provided by law.
11. On a point of order he/she may deprive a member of the floor or caution or censure him /her or even order him/her to leave the hall. This power he/she uses carefully and with restraint, but when clearly necessary he/she uses it with firmness.
12. He/She may declare a recess, or in cases of emergency dissolves the meeting.
13. He/She has a right to expect that the members will observe the rules of procedure. Without the cooperation of the members in this respect it would be impossible to conduct an orderly meeting.

Under our special rules the presence of ten members constitutes a quorum. In order that business may be transacted legally a quorum must always be present. A member may rise, and after being recognized suggest the absence of a quorum. Upon failure to obtain a quorum there can be no business transacted except to take steps to obtain one, and to take up such matters as the time to adjourn, or to take a recess, or to adjourn.

After the meeting has been duly opened, the roll of officers called, the records of the preceding regular and special meetings read, corrected, if need be, and approved, and communications read, the transaction of the business of the Lodge is properly before the meeting. Business should be transacted with expedition, but not in a hurry. Matters to be acted on by the Lodge must be presented in the form of motions, resolutions or orders. A motion is a proposition. It should be clearly stated and must cover some matter that falls within the scope of the purposes of the order. Only one main motion, resolution or order at a time may be considered by the Lodge. While the main motion is pending only matters that are subsidiary or incidental to the main motion or matters that are of a privileged character may be presented to the meeting.

For the guidance of presiding officers and members of our Lodges we set forth the various motions that may be made and the order of their sequence. All these motions require a second unless otherwise specified, and all of them are debatable and amendable unless otherwise stated.

1. THE MAIN MOTION OR QUESTION.
2. SUBSIDIARY MOTIONS:
 - (a) Motion to postpone indefinitely. Not amendable.
 - (b) Motion to amend. An amendment to an amendment cannot be amended. That is to say, amendments in the third degree are not permitted. Motions may be amended by adding, by striking out, by inserting, by striking out and inserting, by substituting or by dividing.
 - (c) Motion to commit or refer to a committee or to recommit to a committee. May be renewed after progress.
 - (d) Motion to postpone to a definite time. Debatable only as to the propriety of postponement.
 - (e) Motion to limit or extend limit of debate. Debatable only if made as a main motion.
 - (f) Motion to close debate. Sometimes called the previous question. Not debatable. Not amendable.
 - (g) Motion to lay on the table. Not debatable. Not amendable.
3. INCIDENTAL MOTIONS:
 - (a) Motion to suspend rules. Not debatable. Not amendable.
 - (b) Withdrawal of a motion. The maker of a motion may withdraw it at any time before it is voted on, provided there is no objection made by any member. If objection is made the maker must obtain leave to withdraw by a majority vote. No second required. Not debatable. Not amendable.
 - (c) Objection to consideration. No second required. Not debatable. Not amendable.
 - (d) Points of order, parliamentary inquiry, information. No second required. Not debatable. Not amendable. Chairman decides a point of order or may submit point to a vote of the assembly without his/her decision.

(e) Appeal from the ruling of the Chair. Must be seconded. Not debatable if made when an un-debatable motion is pending. Not amendable. The presiding officer must relinquish the chair until the appeal is decided. The appeal must be made immediately after the Chair announces its ruling. The question on appeal is, "Shall the ruling of the Chair be sustained?"

4. PRIVILEGED MOTIONS:
 - (a) Question of privilege. No second required. Not amendable. The Chair decides.
 - (b) Motion to take a recess.
 - (c) Motion to adjourn. Not debatable. Not amendable. May be renewed only after some progress has been made
5. MISCELLANEOUS MOTIONS:
 - (a) Motion to reconsider. Not amendable. May not be renewed. Must be made at the same meeting at which vote sought to be reconsidered was taken. Under our special rules only members who voted with the majority on the question sought to be reconsidered may make or second a motion to reconsider. Not debatable if motion to which it applies was un-debatable. Reconstruction of a motion to reconsider is not permitted.
 - (b) Motion to rescind, repeal or annul. Motions to reconsider or to rescind are not in order if the votes sought to be reconsidered or rescinded have been acted upon by the Lodge to the extent that its position has been materially changed. A motion to rescind is not in order if a motion to reconsider may be made.

VOTING

Our special rules provide that all motions, including even the motion to close debate, are decided by a majority vote. Our rules also require that a vote be taken by a show of hands, unless a motion is previously made and carried to vote by ballot or roll call. After a vote has been taken by a show of hands and a member doubts the vote and requests that the vote be verified by a roll call, then the vote will be so verified if at least four other members join in the request. Elections are regularly held by secret ballot. A motion to vote by ballot or roll call is not debatable. Since the judgment of the assembly is expressed by a vote it is a serious breach of order while a vote is being taken for any person to try to influence a member's vote.

Where our own laws are silent the rules contained in Robert's Rules of Order have been adopted as binding.
